

STRANGER HELD
BY CITY MARSHAL

Man Answering Description of Missing Express Agent in Custody of Local Police.

COMPANY SENDS TELEGRAM

Party Gives Name as Parkhurst and Claims to be Cousin of Prominent Minister of That Name.

Marshal J. T. Abell is holding two young men here, one of whom is suspected of being guilty of taking $2,000 from the Adams Express Company while acting as agent at Tennyson, Ind. The theft was committed about the middle of January, and no trace of the agent has been discovered.

Marshal Abell was notified that the agent was wanted and was given a description of the man. The notice stated that the man had a deep scar on his left cheek and when he left Tennyson wore a light coat and trousers and was without vest or collar.

This morning shortly after Marshal Abell went on duty he stepped in Jerrill's restaurant and found the young men eating their breakfast. He at once noticed the scar and as the man seemed to answer the description of the missing agent he was placed in jail. The man was accompanied by a friend who is also being held.

A telegram was sent to the central office of the express company and a reply was received this afternoon asking the exact weight of the man held here. The notice which was received by Marshal Abell stated that the fellow weighed about 150 pounds. He was placed on the scales and registered 136½ pounds. He will be held until the company notifies the police that he is not wanted. In almost every particular the man in the city jail answers the description given. He gave his name as G. P. Parkhurst, of Elgin, Ill. His companion gave his name as H. B. Rush, of Salem, O.

Parkhurst talks readily and gave the officers a history of his travels. He said he had been around the world and had served four years in the U. S. marine service. For some time he had been traveling from place to place without any apparent object in view. He gave his age as twenty-five. He declared that he was not guilty of the theft, as this was the first time he had ever been in Indiana. Parkhurst said that he was the nephew of Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York, the well known minister.

A reward of two hundred dollars has been offered for the arrest of the agent who stole the money.

Served Three Years.

S. A. Barnes, who retired Thursday as county attorney, had filled the office three years and during that time gave the county good service. In looking after the county's interests he made some political enemies naturally. After the last election he made a ruling which resulted in the commissioners cutting down the claims of many of the election officials. The ruling which was according to the law, saved money for the county and though the election officers received pay for the time they really served, it is stated that some of them were so incensed that they have since been very active in fighting Mr. Barnes' reelection.

WAS MENTALLY UNBALANCED

Threats Made by J. F. M. Summers Who Committed Suicide on Hoosier Flyer Thursday.

RELATIVES HUNTING FOR HIM

Since His Disappearance From His Home in Lebanon.—Worried Over Indebtedness.

J. F. M. Summers, the Lebanon man who committed suicide on a Hoosier Flyer near Columbus shortly after noon Thursday has, it is learned been mentally unbalanced for several weeks. In his note which he left he claimed that he would commit suicide because his daughter and a man named Keenor had locked him out of his home, but word from Lebanon is to the effect that his insanity was caused by worrying over his inability to pay for a house which he recently built. A week ago he returned to Lebanon from a visit in Indianapolis and that night took a piece of carpet and slept under his house. The next morning he disappeared and officers and relatives had since searched in vain for him. His wife was visiting in Missouri and he wrote her to come home on a certain night as he wanted to kill her.

Summers boarded the limited car at Louisville Thursday morning, having a ticket for Indianapolis. He passed through Seymour on the car leaving here at 11:17. He was quiet and attracted no attention from Conductor Rolla Emig or the passengers until he was found in the toilet room with his throat cut.

When the Bartholomew county sheriff searched the man he found in his pockets only the note, two pairs of spectacles, a plug of tobacco, a cornob pipe, an open face silver watch and a bottle marked quinine. He was wearing two pairs of overalls and a pair of trousers over them and had on a sack coat and vest matching the trousers.

A special from Lebanon says:

Frank Summers, who killed himself on an interurban car near Columbus, Ind., left his home in this city last Saturday with the avowed intention of committing suicide. Mrs. Summers, who was visiting in Missouri, received a letter from her husband last Saturday, in which he told her of his intention to take his life. Within a few minutes after receiving his letter she received a message that he had disappeared. She returned home immediately and with the assistance of the officers of this city and surrounding places a search had been conducted for Summers.

It was at first believed that he had drowned himself in a gravel pit near his home, as he said he would do. The pit was dragged, but his body was not found. Yesterday word was received that he was in Indianapolis. Sheriff Harter, who had a warrant for his appearance before a local justice of the peace to test Summer's sanity, went to Indianapolis to get Summers. When Mr. Harter arrived at the place Summers had been stopping he found that Summers had left a few minutes before he arrived.

Nothing further was heard from Summers until word was received from Columbus that he had taken his life. Summers was a wealthy resident of this city and it is believed that his mind was unbalanced. About a year ago Summers left home in a strange manner and after a long search he returned home as unexpectedly as he left, and up to last Saturday was apparently in his right mind.

NOTICE POSTED

Work Reduced at B. & O. Shops at Washington.

An order was yesterday posted at the B. & O. Southwestern shops which reduces the working time of all the men, some two hundred, who are employed in the back shops to nine hours a day for five days in the week with but five hours on Saturday, making the week's time run up to but fifty hours a week.

The reason for the decrease in the time as vouched for by subordinate officers at the shops is from the fact that the local concern has been exceeding its expense allowance and that the line must be drawn in order that the outlay of cash be brought within the expenses of the year of 1910 as a basis.

The men affected are those employed in the machine, boiler and blacksmith shops and the cut comes with a shock to these men, especially is this true with the machinists as they have been without employment for several months. The local officers say that the order likely will stay in effect until the late spring time, as the business of the road does not at this time justify the amount of work formerly needed at his time.

Forty-seven foreigners were discharged from the company's employment Wednesday.

STAGE DISCONTINUED

Railroad Only Means of Travel Between North Vernon and Vernon.

After about thirty years of continual operation under various managers the stage line between this city and Vernon was discontinued last Saturday evening and the horses used in the operation of the line by Messrs. Simon and Hulse will be sold at public auction Saturday, February 18, at the livery stable in Vernon.

The immediate cause of the discontinuance of the hack line was because of the government cut out the hauling of mail to and from Vernon. This paid $300 per year and there is not enough business without the mail service to pay for the operation of the line.

There is now no means of travel between the two towns except the Pennsylvania railroad.—North Vernon Sun.

Erratic Genius.

Sentimental readers, and even many critics, are wont to spend a good deal of time lamenting over the ill luck of many of the world's great poets, dramatists, and artists. It shocks them to recall, as Kipling did in that little after-dinner speech of his, that perhaps the finest literature we know came from a midnight stabber (Villon), a sheep-stealer (Shakespeare), a roving tinkler (Bunyan), and a dissolute plowman (Buns).

It is still more grievous, one might say, that frowns and poverty and squalor should haunt the steps of other geniuses—such as poor Chatterton, who was forced to suicide, or Keats, who died heart-broken by hostile criticism. Think, too, of Byron, sodden with brandy in his last few years; or Poe, who was so poor that when his wife was dying he was obliged to cover her with his greatcoat, because he could not afford a fire, and who himself died half-starved in Baltimore, the victim of a gang of roughs.—The Munsey.

Methodist Revival.

At the afternoon meeting yesterday two persons came forward for the prayers of the church, seeking the higher life.

At night the pastor preached about "Shipwrecks on Life's Ocean." He told how Paul knew the danger of shipwreck because he himself had made shipwreck of his faith through blind bigotry and fanaticism and had not God opened Heaven and let down a kindly helping hand he would have been eternally lost. The preacher next mentioned the many dangers on life's ocean—unseen rocks and reefs and shoals that can not be known except by consulting God's chart, the Bible. He who made the ocean certainly knows its dangers and can get up a perfect guide book for the help of life's voyagers. Then to make it more certain that no one need be shipwrecked, Jesus himself comes from the skies and offers to pilot all who will let him do so. He has never lost a life that has been put in his care and he brings every one of his vessels to port on that "sunbright shore."

It seems strange that with such a perfect guide book as the Bible that has stood the severest tests of the centuries and with a pilot who never has known a shipwreck of His vessels, that the vast majority of people will face this ocean of life, with its mountain billows and hidden dangers, and reject these helps that are so essential to their success, not knowing but the very next moment may bring them to wreck and ruin.

The subject for the sermon tonight will be "Peter, the Backslider." There will be no services on Saturday.

THE PRESIDENT AT CORN SHOW

Busiest Trip Mr. Taft Has Taken In Months.

IT WILL KEEP HIM ON THE GO

Leaving Columbus Tonight, the President Will Go to Logansport, Where He Will Switch Onto the McKinley Interurban Lines For a Trip Over Into Illinois, Where He Will Make a Lincoln Day Address.

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—At the National Corn exposition today President Taft made an address. After the address he took a motor ride through Columbus and later will become the guest of the Ohio state university until evening, when he is to attend a banquet given by the exposition officials.

The presidential party will leave Columbus late tonight. Early Saturday morning his car will be switched from the Pennsylvania railroad at Logansport, Ind., to the electric line controlled by Representative McKinley of Illinois. On the ride through Indiana and Illinois over this road Mr. Taft will stop at Urbana, Ill., University of Illinois at Decatur, at Bement and Springfield. In Springfield he will be the guest of Governor Deneen. In the afternoon the president will make an address to the Illinois legislature in the house of representatives. In view of the recent attacks upon the Illinois legislature growing out of the Lorimer scandal, the president's speech there will be awaited with special interest. From the house of representatives he will go back to the executive mansion, where he will hold a reception and at night he will be the guest of the Springfield chamber of commerce. To this organization the president will make an address on Abraham Lincoln.

The return trip to Washington will begin Sunday morning and the president is expected back at Washington early Monday. Representative McKinley, Secretary Norton, Captain Butt, the president's physician, Dr. Richardson, one of the White House photographers, and two secret service men are in the president's party.

DREW A CROWD

Decies and His Bride the Observed of All Observers.

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 10.—When Lord Decies and his bride, formerly Vivien Gould, reached here over the Atlantic Coast line enroute to Jekyll Island to spend their honeymoon, Lady Decies furnished a sensation by puffing a cigarette in full view of several hundred persons gathered at the depot to get a look at the bridal couple. When the train stopped Lord and Lady Decies were at lunch in the dining car. The people at the station gave a cheer. After luncheon the bride took her seat at a window in view of the curious crowd, produced a cigarette from a jeweled case, lighted it and coolly began to puff. The crowd broke into a cheer as Lady Decies puffed the cigarette and she seemed to enjoy the applause. In a few minutes the couple left the car at Atlanta and walked to the wharf, a hundred yards away, between two lines of spectators. Lord Decies lifted his hat and Lady Decies smiled and bowed.

The girl bride seemed amazed and delighted at the crowd. Lord Decies acted a bit bored.

MISSING BRIDEGROOM

William Thaw III. Disappears on West Indian Wedding Trip.

Pittsburg, Feb. 10.—Detective Frank Lee, who for many years has aided William Thaw, third, in various predicaments, is now hurrying to the West Indies to pick up the trail of Thaw, who, according to the North Side police and servants of the Thaw family, has disappeared while on his wedding trip.

Thaw was last heard of in the vicinity of Jamaica, according to his Aligheney relatives. He has been known as the most eccentric of Pittsburg's rich young men. He was married to Miss Gladys Bradley of Bridgeport at the St. Regis hotel in New York Dec. 1 last, and it is understood here that Mrs. William Thaw, second, mother of the young man, was obliged to give her word that her son would behave himself before Miss Bradley would consent to marry.

Whole Train Was Quarantined.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The dread of the bubonic plague which prevails in Manchuria, reaching Europe, seems to have been realized. A report from Pensa states that a man from the maritime provinces of the far east was found sick on a train there, apparently suffering from the plague. His car and five others containing 124 passengers have been isolated and surrounded by a military guard.

DID GHOULS GET THE WRONG BODY?

Mystery of Robbing Mausoleum
At Erie, Pa.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 10.—No demand for a reward or ransom has come from the ghouls who despoiled the A. L. Scott mausoleum and carried away the body of Mrs. Anna M. McCollom, sister of Mrs. Scott. The police are searching for the ghouls who all but completely wrecked the interior of the magnificent mausoleum in the Erie cemetery. They believe that the robbers made a mistake and took a corpse they did not want. It is thought they intended to take the body of Mrs. William L. Scott, mother of Mrs. Charles H. Strong, reasoning that Mrs. Strong would pay a large ransom for the return of the body.

A MINE MYSTERY

Was Woman Murdered and Body Cast Into Abandoned Shaft?

Vincennes, Ind., Feb. 10.—The finding of a pile of partially burned woman's clothing near a new and small opening in the cover over the water-filled shaft of the abandoned Prospect Hill coal mine, furnishes the police with a mystery. The theory is that a woman has been murdered and thrown down the shaft, but there is no clue.

According to the police the hole in the cover of the mine is not much over one month old, and they assert that a woman a little below the average size could have been forced through the opening. No work has been done in the mine for over six years, and the water in the shaft is 300 feet deep. Parts of garments found near the opening have been seen by many persons, but have not been identified.

This Raises a Question.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 10.—A man who registered as L. R. Ashurst, the reversed initials of the missing Philadelphia postmaster, and answering his description, registered at the St. Regis hotel here Feb. 2. The same day he received a telegram from a woman. The sender asked Ashurst to come home.

TO REGULATE THE SALOONS

Senate Passes Proctor Bill By
Vote of 27 to 21

THE BIG FIGHT IS OVER FEES

On This Proposition the Democratic Floor Leader, Stotsenburg, and Senator Fleming, Prominent Member of Brewers' Association, Voted Against the Bill, Which Fixes Saloon License at $700 for Cities and $500 in Towns.

Indianapolis, Feb. 10.—With the amount of license fees unchanged and as amended on second reading, the Proctor liquor regulation bill was passed in the senate by a vote of 27 to 21. The fees provided are $700 in cities and $500 in incorporated towns, including the state fee of $200.

Among the Democrats who voted against the bill were Senators Stephen B. Fleming, a leading member of the Association of Indiana Brewers, and Evan B. Stotsenburg, Democratic floor leader. Both said they were dissatisfied with the amounts of fees fixed in the bill, which they thought were too high. Senator Fleming had much to do with drawing the provisions of the bill, but as originally submitted the bill named lower fees than it now contains.

Where the Fight Came In.

The principal fight started when the bill was brought up on third reading, was on the question of the amount of fees. Senator Stotsenburg's attempt to reduce the fees and put them on a sliding scale was followed by a substitute amendment by Senator Proctor, who moved to place the fee in cities at $1,000 and in towns at $700, including the state license fee of $200. Later Senator Proctor withdrew his substitute, which he said had been introduced for the purpose of killing the Stotsenburg amendment, and recommended that the amounts of fees be left as named in the printed bill. The Stotsenburg amendment was lost by a vote of 11 to 36.

Senators who voted for the passage of the bill were: Aiken, Beal, Clark, Commons, Curtis, Durre, Farlow, Farrell, Gers, Grube, Harlan, Hauck, Higgins, Hunt, Jackson, Kistler, Lamont, Long, McCarty, Netterville, Powers, Proctor, Shively, Sullivan, Tilden, Trautman, Yarling.

Those who voted against the bill were: Brady, Carleton, Crumpacker, Fleming, Gavitt, Greenwell, Halleck, Hanna, Jenkins, Kimmel, Lambert, Moore, Parks, Ratts, Royse, Sexson, Stotsenburg, Strange, Traylor, White, Wood.

Hibberd and Kane not present.

Provisions of the Bill.

The amounts of license fees in the bill as passed are the flat sums of $700 for cities and $500 for incorporated towns, including the state fee of $200. Cities of the first and second classes are authorized to charge fees for all saloons within four miles of their limits, cities of all other classes within two miles of their limits, and incorporated towns within two miles of their limits.

Among the provisions of the bill are:

License shall not be granted to licensee who has permitted gambling in his place of business; specifying that remonstrances may be had in cities as well as townships; for the revocation of a license held by a grossly immoral applicant or one who is otherwise unfit to conduct a saloon; prohibiting obscene pictures in saloons; increasing the penal bond of the applicant for renewal from $2,000 to $3,500; reducing from ten to five the number of days which a remonstrance shall be permitted to be filed before the meeting of the board at which the application is to be heard; providing increased license fees shall not apply to present licenses until expiration; that license fees required to be paid to the county treasurer shall go to the school fund of the school corporation in which the licensee transacts business; providing that the applicant shall be responsible for the payment of all judgments for civil damages growing out of unlawful sales of intoxicating liquors; providing for enumeration of population for the purpose of saloon limitation in townships in which there are no cities; allowing a saloon for the first five hundred inhabitants and one saloon for each one thousand inhabitants thereafter.

Legislative Doings.

Among the bills reported favorably from committees in the senate were: An amended bill providing for the licensing and examination of court reporters; bill for giving the state board of tax commissioners power to employ extra assistants; bill making it mandatory for school boards to establish a special school for incorrigibles; bill for establishing liquor and drug cure departments in county workhouses; bill for the registration of voters; bill for the establishment and maintenance of county tuberculosis hospitals; bill for giving the appellate court power to act as a court of claims; bill for allowing the William H. Draper claim of $56,963, and many others. The reports were approved.

Eighteen new bills have been introduced in the senate and forty-nine in the house. The house has concluded its consideration of the specific appropriations bill.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Cherry Party For the 22d of February.

WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY FAVORS.

A hostess who has planned to entertain some friends at a cherry party on Washington's birthday has found that the artificial cherries sold by confectioners, etc., are much too expensive for her purse, and she will substitute big red cranberries with excellent effect.

The invitations are written on postals decorated with cherries, which are sold everywhere in February, and begin as follows:

Next Friday night at half past eight we beg to help us celebrate Great George and the immortal tree, His gift to all posterity.

After this come the address, date and hour.

The first thing to catch the eye of the guest entering the parlor on the appointed evening will be a cherry tree in a wooden tub. This is constructed of a dead sapling tricked out with tissue paper leaves and at once becomes the basis of a jolly game where each player receives a big cranberry with a thread drawn through it (by means of a needle) and is required to tie it on the tree while blindfolded. All those who accomplish the feat will receive points toward the prize.

Another jolly contest will be guessing the number of cherries in a basket filled with them. The player who comes nearest to the exact number receives a second point.

When the guessing is over each player thrusts his hand into the basket, palm side down, the idea being to see who can catch up most cranberries on the back of the hand and, so balancing them, walk around the room without spilling one. The player most successful is entitled to a point. Tossing the cranberries into a bowl at the opposite end of the room is another feat on the program and offers another point for the successful competitor.

The first and second prizes will be candy boxes decorated with artificial cherries. Huge cherries made of scarlet crepe paper are the consolation prizes. Some new Washington birthday favors are pictured.

Lord Lyttleton came over to New York in search of a wife. He brought letters to me, and I put him up at those clubs to which I belonged. I didn't need to introduce him to our set because it was known he was coming, and all the women with marriageable daughters—I mean those who are looking for foreign titles—flooded him with invitations as soon as he arrived.

I had a matrimonial scheme on hand myself. I didn't need money, you know, having a couple of hundred thousand income, but I liked Miss Auchincloss, who had as much more. There are those of us well to do people who don't wish to be bothered making more money. We usually marry among ourselves, so you see it was possible for Miss Auchincloss and me to consider love just like ordinary people. Well, I introduced the Englishman to her, and what did he do but make up to her and offer himself.

The first I knew of it Miss Auchincloss sent for me and told me—mind you, I hadn't proposed to her—that she was intending to accept my lordly friend.

"Love match?" I asked, controlling my surprise.

"Nonsense!"

"Title?"

"Of course. We all wish to get up in the social scale, and, say what you like, a title is always a step higher than no title."

"How about the man you have to take with it?"

"Lyttleton is passable."

"Well?"

"What do you think of it?"

"It'll be a good thing for me. I don't see how a man can put another more under obligations to himself than by introducing him to a girl he hoped to get for his wife and giving her up to him. When I go to London I'll have some one to do a lot for me. Does he know of my pretensions?"

"Not till I told him."

"Well, goodbye. You have accepted him, I suppose."

"Yes, but we're not to be married for a year. I'm to go over and have a look at the castle. He says £100,000 for repairs will be required."

"Well, I wish you joy in your title."

I bade her goodbye, and, going to my club, I found Lyttleton.

"Hello, old chappie!" he said. "Glad to see you."

"Accept my congratulations upon your engagement."

"She's told you, has she? Well, old fellow, she told me she has turned you down for me. Deuced poor taste, you know. Don't see how she could have done it. By the bye, you couldn't let me have a matter of £1,000 or so for a few weeks? I'm getting remittances of rents from my agents due a month from today."

"Certainly. Two thousand if you like."

"Well, make it two while you're about it."

I wrote him a check for $10,000, and before he left the country I had lent him $10,000 more. This giving up my girl to him and lending him these sums I think was, to say the least, magnanimous. I told him I should be over the water soon after his arrival, whereupon he said perhaps I wouldn't mind waiting payment till I reached there. I told him it wouldn't trouble me at all.

Of course the first thing I did on reaching London was to notify him of my arrival. He came right down to my hotel and shook both my hands heartily.

"There's one thing about it over here," he said, his exuberant welcome sobering down, "our clubs don't allow introducing strangers at all. It's awfully disappointing not to be able to put you up, old chappie, but I can't, you know."

"Oh, it doesn't matter," I said. "I suppose I'll meet some nice people in other ways."

"So you will; so you will. But why didn't you come in the season? Most of my friends are out of town."

"You mean at their country places. Aren't they to be seen there?"

"Certainly, on invitation. But, you know, their guests are all booked for this season. It's awfully awkward, you know."

"I see. Don't feel bad about it."

"I must be going now. I have an appointment with Colonel De Granville, one of the king's equerries. I'll telephone you as to my plans for you."

That was the last I saw or heard of Lyttleton, and as for my loans they are loans yet.

I was about to return to America when I received a note from Miss Auchincloss asking me to come to see her. She was at a hotel, which surprised me.

"Having a pleasant visit?" she asked.

"Fine."

"Seeing lots of the aristocracy?"

"Loads of them."

She broke into a laugh.

"Got the money you loaned Lyttleton?"

"How did you find out about that?" She laughed again. "A little bird told me."

I sat tapping my foot with my cane.

"It's all off between Lyttleton and me. I never intended to marry him without an investigation. I've made it."

Miss Auchincloss and I went home on the same steamer and when we arrived were engaged.

A DANGEROUS MISTAKE.

Seymour Mothers Should Not Neglect
Kidney Weakness in Children.

Most children have weak kidneys. The earliest warning is bed-wetting. Later comes backache, headache, languor.

'Tis a mistake to neglect these troubles.

To blame the child for its own distress.

Seek to cure the kidneys—

Save the child from deadly kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Seymour parents recommend them.

Mrs. James Breeden, 212 East St., Seymour, Ind., says: "Our little boy was delicate and his kidneys were badly disordered. The child had little control over the kidney secretions and this weakness was the source of much annoyance. Nothing brought relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were taken. They built up the boy's system and corrected the kidney weakness."

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Noblest Musical Instrument.

The organ is far and away the "noblest" of all musical instruments. The harp, the violin, the piano are fine in their way—in some respects finer than the organ—but as an all round instrument for the expression of the nobler feeling of the soul the organ is easily first. It may be called the royal instrument. It, and it alone, seems to be able to voice the kingly aspirations of man. It lifts us up as no instrument does, and under the spell of its utterance we reach the high water mark of the nobler human emotion.—New York American.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

A Discredited Report.

"'Truffles are no good this season,' said his friend."

"'Bah! Don't you believe it,' said Rossini. 'That report was started by the turkeys.'"

Accused of Stealing.

CRUMPACKER BILL PASSED

House Will Be Increased By 42 Members.

REPUBLICANS IGNORE CAUCUS

By a Majority of Forty, After Scenes of Almost Unprecedented Disorder, the House Adopts the Reapportionment Bill, Fixing Representation on a Basis of 433 Members of the Lower House.

Washington, Feb. 10.—In the Sixty-third congress there will be 433 members of the house of representatives, as compared with 391 in the present house. The bill reported by Representative Crumpacker of Indiana, from the census committee, providing for reapportionment on this 433 basis, was passed by the house. There was no recorded vote on the passage of the Crumpacker bill, but just previously a substitute offered by Representative Campbell of Kansas proposing to retain the membership of the house at its present total, was defeated, 131 to 171. The Democratic side voted solidly against the Campbell proposition, and their strength, supplemented by the votes of sixteen Republicans who ignored the action of their recent party caucus, gave the proponents of the increase in the house membership a clear majority of forty.

Of almost as much interest as the vote of the Campbell amendment was the roll call on a committee amendment urged by Mr. Crumpacker and supported by the solid Democratic side, providing that any state which gets an increase under the bill shall be re-districted by "the legislature thereof." Representatives Bartholdt and Elvin of Missouri, two Republicans, bitterly opposed this plan, contending that it was nothing more nor less than a Democratic gerrymander. The committee amendment carried, 159 to 143. This was in the committee of the whole. Later in the open house this action was reversed and the amendment was defeated, 158 to 161.

Voted Against Own Amendment.

Mr. Crumpacker, who had previously offered and supported the amendment, changed his mind and voted against it. Speaker Cannon had his name called and he, too, voted "No." There was an outburst of applause from the Republicans when the result was announced. The defeat of this amendment means that the method of redistricting will be left to the discretion of the state legislatures. It was a foregone conclusion that many regular Republicans did not consider themselves bound by the action of the recent caucus of their party, which declared against an increase of membership on the basis of the latest census figures, and that the Crumpacker bill would pass. But hard fights were made by backers of the various propositions to amend the Crumpacker measure.

The house has seldom been more disorderly than during the consideration of the reapportionment bill. Practically every member who tried to explain or discuss an amendment he had offered was howled down. Democrats and Republicans alike hooted and booed, banged their desks and yelled "Vote" and "Regular order," until the member on his feet gave up in despair. The defeat of the Campbell substitute and the passage of the Crumpacker bill were greeted with great applause.

The Crumpacker bill thus passed—the senate will acquiesce as a matter of course—provides an increase of forty-two members.

Portland, Ind., Feb. 10.—Mrs. Sallie R. Karney of Corkwell, now at liberty under bond to answer for the murder of her husband, David Karney, last Halloween night, is ill at her home and her attending physician gives little hope of her recovery. She was taken sick in the county jail, where she was held until habeas corpus proceedings were brought.

Mrs. Karney, it is said, realizes the hopelessness of her condition, and has found homes for her five small children. There is much sympathy for the woman.

CHINATOWN PUT ONE OVER ON INSPECTORS

Axes and Search Warrants Failed to Get Evidence.

New York, Feb. 10.—Armed with search warrants and axes, forty customs inspectors marched up the street of Chinatown and down again. While they smashed and pried and peeked for contraband opium, Chinatown stood with its hands in its sleeves and smiled a bland smile.

After the raid was over and the men in uniform had been called back to the barge office, Deputy Surveyor Smythe said that the raiders had been disappointed. They had not got what they expected to get, or all they had expected to get. He did say that some evidence had been obtained, but how much or what kind of evidence, he did not disclose. There were no arrests made, and it is customary to arrest a person who has smuggled opium in his possession.

The reason why that bland smile was so pervasive over all the yellow triangle during the course of the raiding was whispered over teacups and purred from the bubbles of the water-pipe. Even Patrolman Murphy of the Elizabeth street station, who stood on the corner twiddling with the thong on his club as he eyed the excited goings and comings of the customs men, had a glimmering of the secret.

"Say, let me tip you off to something," said Murphy, as Acting Deputy Surveyor Norwood, who was in charge of the raid, happened to pass by him. "You won't get the stuff, because there is none here. Last night some of the boys on post saw a lot of moving and piling of things into wagons there on Pell street, and down on Mott street, and now there is nothing doing."

HAD GOOD "LUCK"

Charles M. Schwab Came Out Winner
at Monte Carlo.

Monte Carlo, Feb. 10.—Charles M. Schwab, who makes steel in America, made gold at the roulette tables during his recent visit here. He played in his usual breezy, reckless manner, as if the big notes he tossed down were so much waste paper. Mr. Schwab's luck varied, but his American friends say "he quit $10,000 ahead of the game."

He would have taken away more money but for his dread of having his photograph taken. For some reason he did not wish to be pictured here, and showed almost terror of the camera flashes and snapshots. Whenever one got what Mr. Schwab knew would be a fine photo he paid $60 for the plate and smashed it. The amateur photographers seemed sorry when Mr. Schwab left.

His father, Jabez Townsend, was dead in his own bedroom. Both had been shot, evidently as the result of a suicide pact. They had been in ill health and were despondent.

A Demonstration

By DOROTHEA HALE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Dick Ainsworth, a young American with a rich and indulgent father, spent much of his time abroad. Paris being his favorite place of residence. He was a frequent visitor at the opera and the theaters. Indeed, they were his world. One night on the stage of the Opera Comique he saw his fate. One of the singers, Mlle. Clochette Verdier, was the impersonation of modesty, of decorum, of all that is gentle and feminine.

Ainsworth requested a theatrical friend to take him behind the scenes and introduce him to the lady. This was duly granted, and Ainsworth found Mlle. Verdier the same shy, unassuming creature she was on the stage. She was rather petite and dressed off—and usually on—the stage in very simple attire, her hair especially being plainly done. When Ainsworth looked at her admiringly her eyes dropped to the floor and she stood before him a living statue of innocence.

At the end of a few months, during which Ainsworth gave Mlle. Verdier all of his time that she was able to spare of her own to be with him, he found himself desperately in love with her and made her a proposal of marriage. It was accepted, and Ainsworth was inordinately happy. He told his fiancée that it would not be necessary for her to remain on the stage—that his father was a very rich man.

Ainsworth senior was but twenty-two years older than Ainsworth junior, but he had always been very liberal with his son and had told the boy that when he wished to marry he would provide for him. "I don't wish you to be in a hurry to get me out of the way," Dick, the parent had said. "I'm good for twenty or thirty years yet, but I shall not trouble you because I still live." When Clochette asked Dick if his father would object to his marrying one on the stage Dick told her that his father had come very near doing the same thing himself before he married his mother.

Dick wrote his father about his engagement, and his father replied sympathetically that if the description he had received of the lady were correct he would have no objection whatever to the match and would provide for the couple liberally. The elder Ainsworth was a widower, with no other child except Dick, and he promised to settle half of his estate on his boy on the day of his marriage. "But," he said in closing his letter, "I must make the acquaintance of your fiancée before giving my approval, and I am sorry to say I shall not be able to cross the ocean for several months yet."

This last part of his father's letter was the only part of it that interfered with Dick's comfort. He was very much in love and desired to be made happy at once. It troubled him that his dear, modest little Clochette should continue to be the target for the eyes of the young bloods of Paris. He would gladly have had her leave it at once, but she declined to do so until they were married. So Dick was forced to wait till his father could come over and all should be settled.

At last he received the welcome news that Mr. Ainsworth would sail on a certain date and go direct to Paris on his arrival at Havre. Dick waited for the day of arrival feverishly. He had no doubt of his father's approval of his ladylove. Such unaffected sweetness would charm any man. Besides, Dick knew that his father had a keen insight into character, especially of women. He would at once recognize Clochette's moral worth—would see how different she was from many women on the stage.

On the day of his father's expected arrival Dick received a telegram from him inviting his son to sup with him at a cafe on the Champs Elysees. Mr. Ainsworth would not arrive before 10 p. m., and his son was to go to the cafe at 11. At the appointed hour Dick went to the cafe and asked for his father. The proprietor announced that M. Ainsworth had engaged a private room, but that he had evidently been detained, since he had not yet arrived.

Dick impatiently walked back and forth for an hour, when a waiter stepped up to him and bade him follow him. He led the young man to an upper story and, stopping at a certain door, threw it open.

The slight young Ainsworth beheld startled him. Around a table on which were the remains of a supper sat a company of men and women all the worse for wine. But this was only the beginning of what Dick saw. At one end sat his father, evidently the host, while the crowning feature of the scene was a woman dancing around the festive board.

She was Mlle. Clochette Verdier. "Father! Clochette!" cried Dick, aghast.

The dancer stopped, looked from her fiancé to his father, got down from the table and walked angrily out of the room.

"My son," said the elder Ainsworth, "demonstration is better than persuasion. I have been a long while in Paris incognito studying your fiancée." And that was the end of Dick Ainsworth's dream of love—at least that dream. He had another later, but this time his father approved of his choice as soon as he saw her.

INSURRECTOS MOVE INTO THE MOUNTAINS

Will Await Reinforcements Before
Attacking Juarez.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 10.—Orozco has moved back from the Rio Grande and camped in the mountains. He says he does not expect Blanco to reinforce him for two days yet. Martin Casillas and 250 men joined Orozco's band last evening. They marched from the vicinity of Casas Grandes, south of Juarez.

Insurrectos advancing on Juarez from the south had a battle with the federal troops east of Juarez, and there have been a few small fights south of Juarez along the Mexican National lines. Sixteen men were wounded in a battle fought Wednesday night on the Mexican territory opposite Fort Hancock, fifty miles below El Paso, on the Texas side of the river. Some of the wounded escaped to the Texas side of the river and were then taken into custody by federal troops.

The report has been persistent that Navarro had been met by the insurrectos and that he was fighting. Trainmen brought the information that they had been sixty-eight miles south of Juarez and did not see Navarro. But section men think that Navarro is repairing the railroad as he marches northward and that he is thus traveling slowly.

Insurrecto leaders have information, they say, that Blanco is forty-five miles south of Juarez, and he may be trying to effect a junction with Orozco and attack Navarro before he gets into town.

JEWELED DOG COLLARS.

Worn by Pampered
Pets of Society Folk.

DOGGIES' EXPENSIVE COLLARS.

The fashion changes in dog collars not quite as often perhaps as in the clothes of the mistresses, but there are sharply defined rules concerning what is correct in canine collar adornment. The latest mode for these collars next spring is a bright green leather, and on the right shade of dog the effect is remarkably striking. Red collars are again in vogue for black coated doggies, and there is a model in silver beads that is much approved. A favorite collar of a dog in the toy class owned by a belle living at the national capital is of brown leather headed with silver nails. On the bangle which dangles from the collar are described the canine's name and address.

But the most curious dog collar on record was ordered by a Baltimore man to celebrate the eleventh birthday of his favorite black and tan terrier Dixie. The collar is of diamonds, of which no fewer than 700 were used. According to the illustration given of this collar, it was fashioned somewhat in the form of a tiara, with a pendant consisting of two graduated pieces higher in the center and narrowing at the back.

Wouldn't You Like This Costume?

Burton Holmes, the popular lecturer, seems to be quite as appreciative of the picturesque in costumes as in scenery. Behold him in the illustration arrayed in his latest sartorial find—a Moravian costume which in Moravia is worn by the men of this Austro-Hungary province.

What woman, seeing the modistic possibilities of this native dress, would not have purchased it, as did Mr. Holmes, for $3.48 of our money? This same woman would not allow her husband or brother to appear in it at a fancy dress party. Oh, no! Her motives would be less altruistic, much more selfish. This is what would happen: She would pick off, as it were, the leading motifs of this costume—for instance, the fascinating embroidered girdle with its long fringed ends. This lot she would wear about the waist of her new spring house frock of pale gray chiffon cloth. And the bolero, if this smart adornment answers to such a name in the Moravian tongue, she would incorporate into her smartest lingerie blouse of sheer marquisette. And the accordion plaited sleeves, each plait of which is said to be three inches deep—well, these manches would make several summer gowns.

OLD SORES DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plasmic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S.S.S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary before any sore can heal. S.S.S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive members. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keep old sores open. The Arrow of St. Edmund.

The legend of the death of St. Edmund was curiously corroborated after a lapse of eight centuries. The story goes that the martyr was tied to a tree and, as torture proved unavailing to make him recant his faith, was shot at with Danish arrows till his body was covered with them. The tree at Hoxne to which he was said to have been bound and which was twenty feet in circumference fell in 1848, and (according to "The Black Letter Saints of the Prayer Book") a piece of iron like an arrow head was found imbedded in the wood.

Jerry McOsker, county sheriff was here Thursday evening, returning home from Madison.

NEEDS OF BLOCK SYSTEM.

Railroad Commissioners Discuss Question With Legislative Committee.

The Indiana Railroad Commission has asked the legislature for additional power to enforce the block system rule. The Pennsylvania Company installed the block system several years ago and the B. & O. S. W. complied with the law last August. The two interurban lines running into Seymour are now making arrangements to install the system on their roads.

Chairman Wood, of the railroad commission in discussing the system said:

"We represent the public, the people who are not here, and some of whom are unable to be here. We represent the men who work on the roads. The purpose of this bill is to prevent the lives of passengers and employees being put in jeopardy, as under our present conditions."

He called attention to the fact that the legislature of 1907 had passed an act providing for blocking on steam roads, but that the interpretation put on that law was such that it can not be enforced by the commission. With regard to granting powers to the commission, Wood called attention to the fact that the commission is a state board which is subject to the recall at any time, as the Governor has powers to make summary changes. Hence argued Wood, the commission is not apt to go far beyond its lawful powers and not apt to act in unreasonable manner. The speaker also called attention to the several recent interurban wrecks and the loss of life incident thereto, saying that this would have been prevented by adequate blocking systems. Further consideration was delayed to give the railroads an opportunity to be heard.

IT GROWS HAIR.

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove At Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store. Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

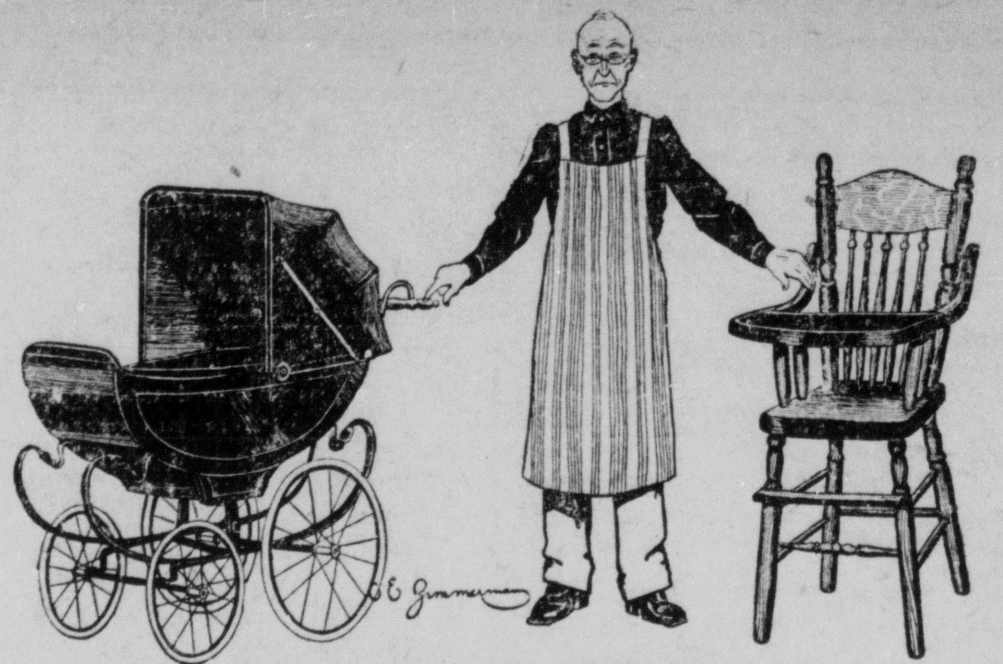

SEMI-MONTHLY PAY.

Railroads Are Satisfied With Present System.

The measure introduced by Senator Sexson, providing that railroad employees be paid twice a month was watched with much interest here. The bill was discussed yesterday in the committee and met with opposition, both on the part of railroad officials and certain classes of employees and within the committee itself. Sexson said his bill had been introduced because by the monthly pay system, some of the employees, especially the track men, who work at $40 to $50 per month, often sell their time to loan sharks to obtain cash, selling the time at a big discount, although the railroad owes them the full amount and is really profiting by the use of the money.

Senator Kane called attention to the fact that a former act which attempted to fix the time the railways should pay employees had been held unconstitutional, as it had attempted to interfere with private contracts. Representatives of the treasury and audit departments of the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. railways, and representatives of the machinists, conductors, enginemen, brakemen, and firemen said the pay system was satisfactory. It was estimated that the law would cost the Pennsylvania line $165,000 a year additional because of necessary increases in clerks, paymasters and pay cars. Sexson, in view of the attitude of some of the employees suggested that the bill be changed so as to apply only to the men who received the small wages, and not to $100 a month men, but Senators Wood and King, who are railroad lawyers, said such a law would be unconstitutional. The Sexson bill will be killed in committee.

P. COLABUONO, THE SHOEMAKER

PAINTERS' ROOF JACK.

Simple Device For Holding Pots Up-right on Slanting Surface.

Painters who have much roof painting to do must have some sort of device to hold the paint pot in an upright position, as it is very unhandy to carry it with one hand and paint with the other, says Popular Mechanics. A simple device to hold the paint pot that is easy to make and will work on a roof of any pitch is shown in the accompanying sketch.

Secure some keg hoops and make a basket, as shown, large enough to hold the paint pot. The basket should have a wooden bottom, and the top hoop should be fastened to two uprights of a wooden frame, so that it will swing freely between them. Four saw tooth clips, fastened to the supporting frame, will hold it securely to the roof. This device can be easily moved about the roof and will always hold the paint pot in an upright position.

THE SPEAKING CLOCK.

Ingenuious Timepiece Voices the Passage of the Hours.

There is nothing outwardly remarkable, according to Das Echo, in the appearance of the ingeniously constructed timepiece known as the "time stating clock." But every quarter of an hour an agreeable voice issues from it, announcing the correct time, as 12 o'clock, 12:15, 12:30, etc.

The works of the clock actuate a stout belt, which runs over a roll connected with a sounding box.

Upon this belt, or rather film, the hours, which have been recorded by a phonograph, are impressed by galvanization on a copper plate.

The mechanism which moves the hands is connected with the speaking device and this with a funnel, which re-enforces the sound and projects it outward through a finely grated opening attached to the narrow side of the clock.

At night a touch on a lever reduces the clock to silence. But if one wakes and wishes to know the hour without striking a light an easily found button is pressed, and the clock immedi-

Meanings of Several Names.

Asia means morning or east; Europe, evening or west; Australia means lying to or in the south; hence we may consider that these names mean eastern land, western land and southern land. Asia is a Greek word, Europe is a Hebrew word, and Australia is a Latin word. The origin of the word Africa is uncertain. Some conjecture that it is a Semitic word meaning "land of wanderers."

Butter From Coconut Oil.

A new substitute for butter has been placed on the market in western Bohemia. It contains no animal fats, but is manufactured from coconut oil, the yolks of eggs and a small proportion of cream. The coconuts are imported by the shipload by way of Hamburg, up the Elbe river to Aussig, in this consular district, where the factory is located. Coconut oil has been used for some time in Europe in the manufacture of oleomargarine under various names, but in combination with lard or other animal fats. The "vegetable" butter is prepared in two forms, soft and in firm cakes. It is shipped by parcels post from the factory in packages of eleven pounds. The claim is made that this butter substitute has an agreeable flavor, is not injurious to health and is excellent for cooking purposes. It retails for about 14 cents a pound.—Consular Report.

Fifty Years Ago Today.

Feb. 10.

Up to date eighty-two southern officers had resigned from the United States army and navy rather than draw the sword against the south. Among them were two lieutenant colonels, two majors and eight captains of the army and six captains and commanders of the navy.

Lincoln passed his last day at his home in Springfield quietly among old friends.

Look in the mirror every morning and think, "How well I am looking!" This is the "beauty thought."

Use almond meal instead of soap for washing the face and give your face an itching out with ice occasionally.

Close your mouth when you sleep and avoid having hollows behind your ears.

Sleep on your back and do not use a pillow. Sleeping on the side causes puffs under the eyes.

To keep your eyelids from sagging pinch them every day.

Give your skin regular meals like you have yourself—skin food of cold cream or something similar—and keep away wrinkles.

Put cold cream on your scrawny elbows and they will soon get fat and rosy.

Never say a word with an S in it unless you follow it with a Z chaser. S sounds produce hollows in the throat; Z rounds them out again.

Pinch the upper eyelid gently toward the nose and back again twice every night and your eyes will not sink back in your head.

Dry meals are the only hope of fat women for reducing.

Don't wear corsets.

Use from three to six eggs for washing the hair.

Exercise Waist Muscles.

Ten minutes given in the morning to muscular work before putting on stays is certainly worth trying. An excellent movement is to try to bend from the waist, going low, while keeping the knees straight. Under no circumstances are the knees to bend, for then there is no work done by the hips. Bending over front, back and sideways is limbering.

Any woman who has seen skirt dancing will understand that the beautiful posing of the dancer is done entirely from the waist line, and the flexibility of muscles there enables the dancer to be graceful and at the same time keeps her slender.

All so called "kicking" of professional skirt dancers is done from the hips. Women untrained in physical culture do not begin to work the muscles and cords about their hips and waist as much as they should, and in that fact lies the cause of increasingly large figures as middle age comes on.

It is not well to try to bend from the hips while wearing long stays, and indeed such an effort may work harm by compressing the organs. Muscles must have room when they are to be exercised, and unless all restricting bands are removed they are better quiet.

To Keep Hair Light and Fluffy.

The proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her scalp with soap and drench her hair with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day. In fact, the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle.

If you want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy try dry shampooing. Put in a quart jar or any other handy container four ounces of powdered orris root and four ounces of theriac. Stir and shake until thoroughly mixed. A beautiful cleansing powder with a delicate perfume will be the result.

Sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture on the head and then brush it well through the hair. This brings out the natural color of the hair, makes it soft and glossy and, if continued regularly, tends to make the hair long and abundant, for it is a natural hair grower.

Mr. Bailey's Rules.

Henry Turner Bailey, a Boston artist, has laid down a set of rules whereby women of high and low degree, fat, thin, tall or short, can achieve aesthetic perfection in style. Here are the rules:

If you are tall, wear gowns made on horizontal lines and never have dresses too long or too short.

If you are short, your costume should be made on vertical lines. Never have your dresses short, regardless of style.

If you are stout, dress plainly in a one color scheme.

If you are thin, a mixed goods is permissible.

Women possessing large feet should never wear tin shoes.

Whether feet are large or small, the broad bulldog toe is inartistic from every point of view.

In conclusion Mr. Bailey says, "Puffs are condemnable because they are false."

Rest the Scalp.

Rest for the scalp is imperative to overcome the strain of wearing the large quantities of false hair that are now fashionable, for in addition to the mass of curls, puffs, etc., many pins are required to hold the coiffures in shape. These pins naturally pull the hair roots.

Eye Treatment.

For the baggy appearance under the eyes try rubbing gently with the tips of the fingers dipped in alcohol. Follow this treatment by massaging carefully with cold cream.

IN CANVAS WORK.

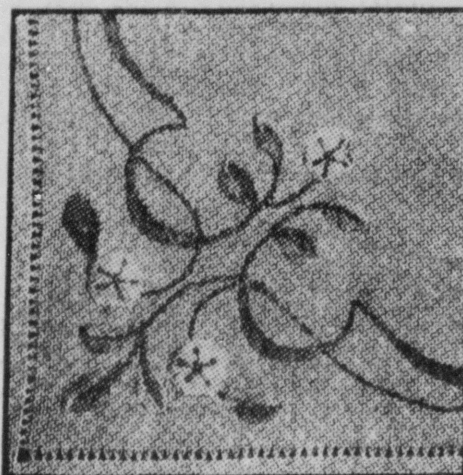

Design Quickly Made and Wonderfully Effective.

FOUNDATION PERSIAN CLOTH.

Pillow Tops, Hat Crowns and Even Dress Trimmings Are Smart and Up to the Minute When Carried Out in the New Embroidery

Canvas work has the advantage of being quickly wrought, and this is to many workers a very important quality. There are always new kinds of canvas cloths available for the novelty hunter, and many of the latest are sufficient to bring canvas embroidery into greater prominence than ever. One of the newest makes is the Persian canvas, which possesses a soft finish, excellent for working purposes and for keeping its shape after washing, there being no stiffening agent used in its manufacture.

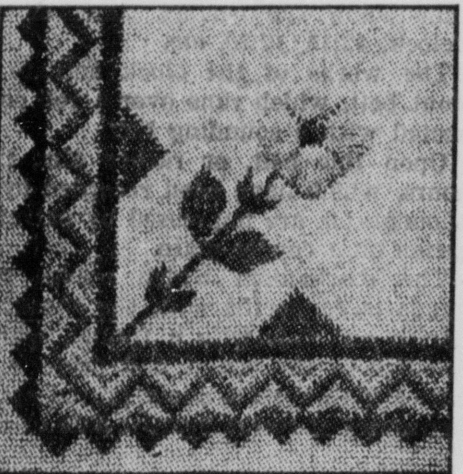

So far as threads go, either silk, cotton, embroidery flax or wool may be used on any of the regular types of foundation material and check can vas, while for a new effect a design worked in crevel wools on Persian canvas is to be recommended where richness in coloring is desired. As an instance of the softness of effect obtained in this cloth a glance at the corner design worked in crevel wools will be convincing proof of its beauty. The canvas is made in various shades, Paris, eau de nil, olive, gray and biscuit, and is forty-two inches wide. This particular design is worked in soft shades of blues and greens. The latter color is used for the edges of the border, the stems of the flowers and the triangular ornaments, while the blues are used for the inside pattern of border and the lighter shade for the flowers.

The second illustration shows a design on Persian canvas, which is also supplied in a variety of colors, including pale blue, pale green, olive and biscuit. The design is quite light and pretty and is worked in satin and stem stitch, the leaves and stem in two shades of green and the flowers in two shades of pink, while the long stitches from the centers of the flowers and also the French knots are worked in yellow. The canvas work may be finished off by buttonhole stitch and crotchet edging, according to the fancy of the embroiderer. A great help to those who interest themselves in this work is the fact that small pieces worked in part to show the stitch and coloring of the design are obtainable at trifling expense.

As tapestry effects all through the dress world nowadays are considered very smart, this work will come in conveniently to the home worker for adorning not only household belongings, but for dress trimmings to be used on her spring frocks and suits. These touches of handwork are distinctive on a costume and mean a large expenditure of money when purchased in the shops.

Fixed Their Hair First.

It seems to have been proved beyond the peradventure of a doubt that personal vanity is the ruling passion of women. Six pretty telephone girls in New York are said to have stopped to arrange their puffs before a hand mirror before they made their escape from a burning building.

But—sh— It's not only the dear girls who think about their looks. Listen to this story that a prominent portrait painter told recently as she paused with a little smile before one of her pictures, that of a round faced, jovial, care free old gentleman, evidently on the easy and comfortable side of sixty.

"Mr. X was horrified when he first saw this portrait," said she. "Oh, yes, he agreed that the likeness was entirely satisfactory. What he objected to was the hair. Now, those careless white locks crowning his good natured, ruddy face make one of the best points in the picture, but he said: 'Why, if I'd known my hair would look like that I'd never have sat for a portrait. Can't you—er—darken that hair and make it—er—grow down on my forehead more?'"

Points For Mothers

The School Diet.

If early rising is insisted upon a child should never be set any task before breakfast, especially in winter, and if it is not expedient to serve a full breakfast at 7 the child should be given a bowl of hot milk and bread or a cup of cocoa with a roll or other light food. Breakfast may be served later, after the first exercises of the morning, and should be a substantial meal with animal food in the form of fish, eggs or cold meat of some sort.

There should also be porridge of wheaten grits or hominy with milk or cream and abundant sugar; also bread and butter, with some sweets in the form of jam, marmalade or stewed fruit.

Dinner, which should always be served near the middle of the day, should comprise meat, potatoes and one or two green vegetables and some form of sweet pudding. Supper, it is generally admitted, should comprise only easily digested articles of food, and such substances as pastry, cheese and meats are better omitted.

It should consist of either a porridge with milk or cream or a light farinaceous pudding of rice, tapioca, sago and the like, with bread and butter and some simple form of preserve. Stewed apples or prunes, light plain cake or a bowl of broth, with bread or crackers, may be substituted for porridge or pudding.

Children need fat, but they do not digest meat fat well, as a rule, and are very apt to dislike it. They will often take suet pudding, however, when hot mutton fat wholly disagrees with them.

Milk should be freely supplied not only in the form of puddings and porridges, but as an occasional beverage, and children should be made to understand that when hungry they can obtain a glass of milk and a biscuit or a bowl of bread and milk.

Fresh fish, eggs and bacon are all wholesome and serviceable food for children, and meat should be given at least once a day, and to rapidly growing children it may be given twice daily.

Children's Guessing Party.

A mother who wished to entertain school children gave a guessing party that was rather out of the usual run. Boys and girls were invited for an evening with celebrities and their haunts. Nothing more explicit was said, so the young people were eager to know what was in store.

After being received by the hostess the party was ushered into a library, across one end of which was a huge white sheet. In a few minutes the room was darkened and a figure appeared dressed to represent Mrs. Jarley of the waxworks and in a witty speech announced the appearance of the celebrities.

She first distributed to each guest a card with pencil attached. These were lined and numbered to correspond with the celebrities to be shown.

In a few minutes a picture of Bluebeard was thrown on the sheet and thirty seconds given to guessing who he was.

The celebrities varied from heroes of fiction to monarchs, pugilists and football stars, noted actresses, poets, musicians, to well known places and buildings.

The pictures were made as different as possible, and when those that might be unfamiliar were given the showman elucidated it in a clever little speech.

At the end of the display the cards were numbered and passed in to a committee on awards. Each boy and girl having most correct guesses received a prize. There were also second and third prizes.

Such an entertainment is not hard to arrange if one can get the use of a lantern and some one to run it. It is essential to display the pictures rapidly.

The slides can be rented, or if you have a collection of postals they can be made into slides at small cost.

A Good Idea.

A mother who has several active children that are frequently coming in with cut fingers or bleeding noses says that in two places in her household she keeps squares of cheesecloth about handkerchief size for such emergencies, as blood stains are hard to get out of handkerchiefs. Sometimes a week or more elapses before the ruin is brought to light, because small boys are indifferent to the welfare of linen and also because they occasionally find it desirable to hide all evidence of affairs in which they have been aggressors. After so many days even the useful chalk treatment has to be repeated several times before the ugly stains are removed, making unnecessary work for some one. So when a "roughhouse" seems to be in prospect and always at playtime during the football season her young hopefuls have their pockets filled with the cheesecloth squares, and only one good handkerchief is allowed "for show." So impressed are other mothers with the scheme that all the small boys of the neighborhood now go forth to play with this command ringing in their ears: "If your nose bleeds take the squares in your right hand pocket, remember."

The Famous Rayo

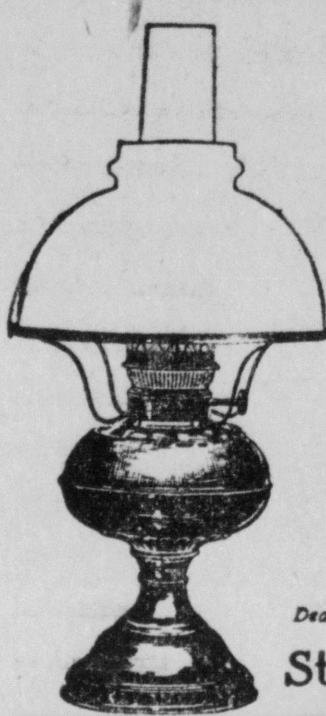

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflattering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nicked, and easily polished.

DISTINCTIVE MANNISH TAILOR SUITS.

Furnished by Pictorial Review

222 West 39th St., New York City.

Among the new materials for tailored suits are some very attractive rough surfaced fabrics. These are suitable for the more severe mannish models for winter. There has been quite a vogue for the smooth finished worsteds. French serge and vicuna for fall with broadcloth, wool-back satin and moire for the more dressy designs. Velvet has become quite prominent this season for suits and dresses and velveteen in various forms is extremely supple, soft and dressy. These are trimmed with black silk braid on colored as well as black velvet, and fur is a fashionable trimming. Of the rough cloths, camels hair, homespun, tweeds, manish mixtures and chevrons are to the fore, and ratine is a new rough fabric that promises to be extremely fashionable; it is all wool and has a roughened knobby surface. It is suitable for long coats as well as for suits.

The narrow skirt, is still the most fashionable type but is modified to suit the individual. The gored skirt and the close-fitting circular skirt are also coming in for their share of favor. The walking skirts are made about ankle length, though some women are ordering theirs a little longer.

Coats are short, about hip length, and they have a charming quaintness of style, that is, they look quaint on the French girl. Perhaps it is her slim, short-waisted figure. By the way, this short-waisted effect is a very vital factor, appearing in coats as well as in gowns. The coats are very slightly fitted and hang almost straight from the shoulders. This, with their short length, adds to the appearance of being short-waisted.

The two and three-inch patent-leather belts worn with so many coats also shorten the waist. Black is the favorite and it may accompany any colored coat, although patent-leather belts are made in all the fashionable colors and they are wonderfully soft and pliant.

The colors tend to sombre shades and black is a leader. Blue in navy, royal or purplish tone; dark seal brown, dark tobacco brown, grays blended with white and black are all fashionable. The mixture materials show a skilful blending of green and brown, blue and green, brown and black, or other combinations in subdued colors that are very smart.

Black and white English mixture is the material used in making the Norfolk jacket PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3639-3633. It is the newest and most up-to-date type of the Norfolk jacket, a style which is always one of the popular forms of a coat suited to rough finished materials, velveteen and corduroy. The shawl collar is faced with black velvet and the black patent-leather belt passing under the box plaits is fastened with a large buckle. The seven-gored skirt is laid in side plaits that are stitched down over the hips and pressed to the lower edge. The jacket patterns are in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure and the medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 3/4 inch material. Skirt patterns are in sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure and the medium size requires 9 yards of 27 inch material. The costume as illustrated requires 6 1/2 yards of 54 inch material with nap.

Fine striped gray chevrot was selected for the suit combining jacket No. 3658 and skirt No. 3656. Moire silk was used for facing the collarless jacket and small buttons also add a decorative finish. The single-breasted jacket is slightly fitted and the seven-gored skirt has lapped seams. A band with lengthwise stripes finishes the sides of both jacket and skirt. Jacket patterns are in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38 and 42 inches bust measure and the medium size requires 3 1/2 yards, 44 inches wide. Skirt sizes are 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure and the medium size requires 3 1/2 yards, 44 inches wide. The entire costume requires 6 1/2 yards, 54 inches wide.

Patterns for the above illustrations including cutting and construction guides are 15 cents each number.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 12, 1911

Elijah's victory over the prophets of Baal. 1 Kings 18: 25-39.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Choose you this day whom ye will serve.
Joshua 24: 15.

After Elijah's long sojourn at Cherith and Zarephath the word of the Lord came again to him. Compare verse 1 and chapter xvii, 2, 8. The majority of believers are appointed to glorify God in a very quiet, commonplace kind of life, not often so quiet and lonely as Cherith nor so lowly as Zarephath and yet very ordinary. May the thirty years of Jesus at Nazareth be a great encouragement to all such.

Then, as to knowing when to move from where we are, may the pillar of cloud and fire be our guide. See Num. ix, 15-23. Remember also that when Joseph was sent to Egypt with Mary and the child Jesus it was said to him, "Be thou there until I bring thee word" (Matt. ii, 13). No will but His and a prompt obedience to His word will give us days of heaven on earth (Deut. xi, 21). As plainly as he was told, "Get thee hence and hide thyself" (xvii, 3), so now he is told, "Go forth into the plain," and later, "Go shut thyself within thine house" (Ezek. iii, 22-24). Perfect acquiescence and unquestioning obedience are the only way of rest and peace.

We are now introduced to Obadiah, the governor of Ahab's house, a good man in a hard place. But Joseph and Daniel were somewhat similarly situated, though they did not choose their situations. Whether this Obadiah did or not we are not told. We are glad to learn that he was the means of preserving the lives of a hundred prophets and that he was a man who feared the Lord from his youth. His name means "servant of Jehovah," and we trust that as a good servant his aim was to please God rather than man (Eph. vi, 6).

When Elijah had Obadiah tell Ahab that he had come he was at first afraid, but afterward went, and so Ahab and Elijah met, with the greeting from the former, "Art thou he that troubleth Israel?" to which Elijah replied that the guilt was upon him and his father's house. And without further talk he ordered him to gather to Mount Carmel the 850 prophets who ate at Jezebel's table. Ahab seems to have been promptly obedient, and soon Elijah is face to face with the prophets of Baal and challenges them and the people with the words: "How long halt ye between two opinions? If Jehovah be God follow Him, but if Baal then follow him" (verse 21).

It is probable that many of the people were in doubt about Baal, inasmuch as he did not deliver them from their distress. The proposition that they and Elijah should each prepare a sacrifice and then decide upon the God that should answer by fire commended itself to the people, and all the people answered and said, "It is well spoken," or, as in the margin, "the word is good." Elijah gave the prophets of Baal the first opportunity, and, having prepared their sacrifice, we see them from morning until noon and from noon until the time of the evening sacrifice calling upon their gods, Elijah urging them on with his "Cry aloud, for he is a god. Either he is talking or he hath a pursuit, or he is in a journey, or peradventure he sleepeth and must be awaked." But, although they cried aloud and cut themselves till the blood gushed out, there was no response whatever. One would think that the devil would have done something to encourage his devoted worshippers, but the hand of the Lord must have restrained him.

When they had utterly failed then Elijah said unto all the people, "Come near unto me." With what interest or perhaps in sullen silence they must have watched the repairing of the altar of the Lord, the placing of twelve stones to represent the twelve tribes, the digging of a trench and then the placing of the sacrifice on the wood! If they had been at all indifferent up to this time they would surely be amazed at the threefold drenching of everything with twelve barrels of water until even the trench was filled. Now, what could fire do even if it came? Listen now to the prayer (verses 36, 37) which, uttered distinctly and slowly, does not occupy half a minute. The fire of the Lord fell, consuming even the stones and the dust and the water in the trench.

When the people saw it they fell on their faces and said: "Jehovah, He is the God! Jehovah, He is the God!" Then Elijah had all the prophets of Baal brought to the brook Kishon and slain there. Not one escaped. Ahab went up to eat and drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel to pray. Note in Elijah's prayer for fire that his one cry was that Jehovah would show Himself as God, and he asked nothing for himself but to be known as the Lord's servant. Consider the Lord answering by fire in Lev. ix, 24; Jude, vi, 21; I Chron. xxi, 26; II Chron. vii, 1, and I have no doubt that the sacrifice of Abel was also accepted in the same way—fire from the sword in Eden reaching out to the sacrifice, while Cain's offering was untouched. May we all be consumed with such love to God as shall make it manifest that Jesus lives.

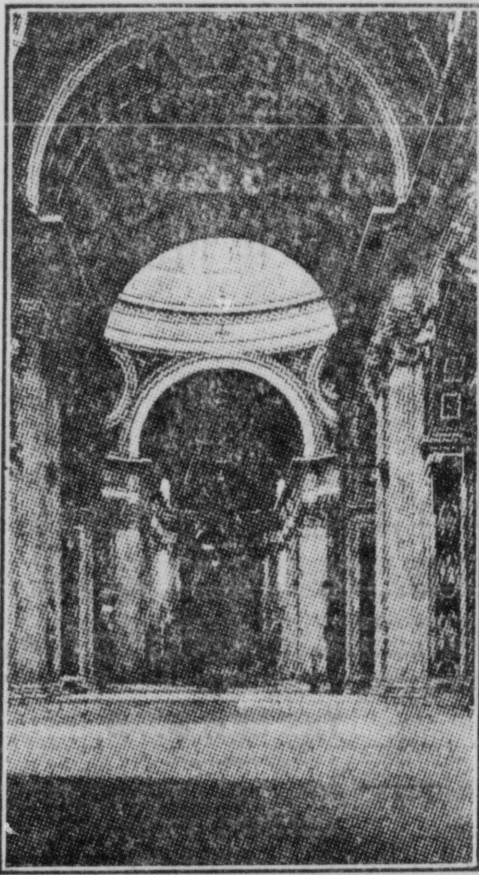

Ancient Paving
Of St. Peter's
To Be Replaced

THE paving of St. Peter's, at Rome, is to be replaced next summer, and consequently the historic edifice will be closed to visitors. The fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the pope as the capital of united Italy will be celebrated this year, so both St. Peter's and the Vatican would naturally remain closed. This makes the repaving of the church possible without inconvenience, as no pilgrimages will visit Rome, and no functions and public ceremonies will be held by order of the pope because of the civic celebration.

The present pavement was laid about three centuries ago and is badly worn by the feet of pilgrims and visitors, so Pope Pius has decided to have the stones replaced by new ones, identical in size, shape and color. As a matter of fact, the work has been started, but the renovation has been confined to the space in front of the altar and the right aisle, so the bulk of the work is yet to be done.

Important archaeological discoveries followed the initial work, and greater results are expected as the restoration proceeds. All the fragments of marble removed have been found to be of great historical value, as many were epitaphs from pagan tombs, others broken pieces of altars or pagan tombstones, while the remainder when pieced together were identified as belonging to classical buildings.

The reason for these discoveries is that the present edifice is built with the materials of the old church erected on the same site. Old St. Peter's dates from the time of Constantine and was erected on the spot where Peter, the great apostle, suffered martyrdom in Nero's circus. Many Christians died for the faith there and were buried near by, as were pagans. The old church was built over the chapel where St. Peter had been buried, and the Christian and pagan tombs were broken up, and the materials, chiefly marble, were used in the construction.

The first church rested on the walls of the circus, and new foundations were built for the left wing. When the old church was pulled down its materials were in turn used to build the present basilica; consequently every fragment of marble in the present pavement is ancient.

White Man's Hope Coming?

Oklahoma has furnished another pugilistic hope for the white race, possibly, in addition to Carl Morris. According to a dispatch, "Batting Bess" Martin of Oklahoma City drew with "Knockout Nellie" Bennett of Chicago in six rounds at Tulsa, Okla., in the presence of numerous spectators of the same sex, who showed they were well posted in fist lore by their comments. Although the people of the state rose aghast over the affair, there is a possibility of such things being conducted in a ladylike manner, according to one sporting writer, who sees the future like this:

"A very vivacious little rencontre took place at the Redford Boxing club last night. 'Kid' Kathryn Kassam and Young Pankhurst sparred four rounds for a purse of $1,500 hung up by the Advanced Women's Society for Mental and Muscular Development. The general price of admission was reduced from $5 to $3.50; consequently the clubhouse was never so crowded. Even the gallery reserved for girls and misses was thronged with young hopefuls, who, it is confidently expected, will maintain the superiority of the white race."

THE WORLD'S LUMBER.

Immense Productivity of the Tropical Forests.

Certain foresters who have recently been looking into the wood conditions of the tropics have brought back word which should serve to cheer the lumbermen and the paper manufacturers. One English investigator, Dr. H. N. Whitford, says we have a dim and hazy appreciation of the wonderful forests of the tropical and semitropical countries. In our own Philippine Islands there are 25,000,000 acres of virgin forest so heavily grown with timber that it has been estimated that they would produce no less than 200,000,000,000 board feet of timber. The United States forest reserves probably amount to 200,000,000 acres of land, and yet these would not produce at the highest estimate more than 400,000,000,000 board feet, which shows how much more productive the tropical forests are.

An acre of Philippine forest, in other words, will produce four times as much wood as an acre in the temperate climate of the North American continent. When one thinks how many thousands of square miles of virgin tropical woodland there are in the interior of Africa and South America it scarcely seems time to despair utterly. Lumbermen will soon exhaust all the available timber in this country if there is no provision made for renewing the supply, but when they learn to draw upon the tropics for their supply there will still be enough wood left in the world to supply kindling and timber until our forests can be regrown.

POUND SEVENTH VERTEBRA.

Japanese Method of Resuscitation In Cases of Drowning.

An English scientist, Professor A. Abrams, has recently been making a special study of the semi-miraculous restoration to life practiced by the Japanese, and, while he does not fully explain why the men come back to life after being to all intents dead, he does tell how it is done, and this in itself is interesting. In jujutsu if a man is knocked out, beaten senseless, killed or otherwise mauled and if a man has been killed by a sunstroke or by drowning the restorer rolls the patient on his face and extends his arms sidewise. Then he strikes the patient on the seventh cervical vertebra with his wrist severely and regularly until the patient recovers consciousness. Immediately he is placed in a sitting posture, his arms rotated, and he is aided in walking, for otherwise he relapses into unconsciousness immediately and in some cases dies at once.

This system of pounding the seventh vertebra has been found peculiarly beneficial in some acute heart diseases, and the effects of the treatment under Japanese manipulation seem almost miraculous at times. As yet there seems to be no clear medical explanation of the effects of pounding the seventh vertebra, but the genuineness of the cures and resuscitations frequently described by travelers is now scientifically established by Professor Abrams' investigations.—Chicago Tribune.

Why Building Stone Crumbles.

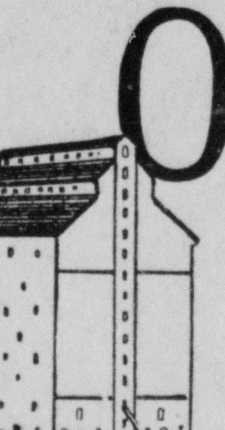

The crumbling of building stones is another form of decay that we are to attribute to the action of microscopic organisms. At a recent museum conference at York, England, Dr. T. Anderson showed that stone decay is not due to wind action and expressed the belief that it is not surface action at all, but a kind of rot produced by some low form of life like the molds and fungi that rot wood, canvas and other vegetable materials. Treatment based on abrasion or chemical theories having failed, he sought a cure of the stones by the use of various germicides. The result has been as anticipated, and in the two years since the experiments began the stones that have best resisted decay have been those that have been treated with sulphate of copper, bichloride of mercury and creosote. For a test of this kind, however, the time is too short to justify any definite conclusion.

Electricity and Plants.

The simplest of all methods of applying the supposed stimulus of electricity to growing plants appears to be that of M. Basty of Antwerp, Belgium. He sets upright in the ground metallic rods furnished with unoxidizable points and penetrating to the depth of the roots of the plants to be treated. These miniature lightning rods are supposed to collect atmospheric electricity and conduct it into the soil. The area of action, M. Basty calculates, is a circle of radius equal to the height of the rod. As many rods as needed may be employed at proper distances apart. As applied in a garden at Antwerp for several years past this method is credited with having increased the yield of lettuce, strawberries and similar garden products from twofold to fourfold.

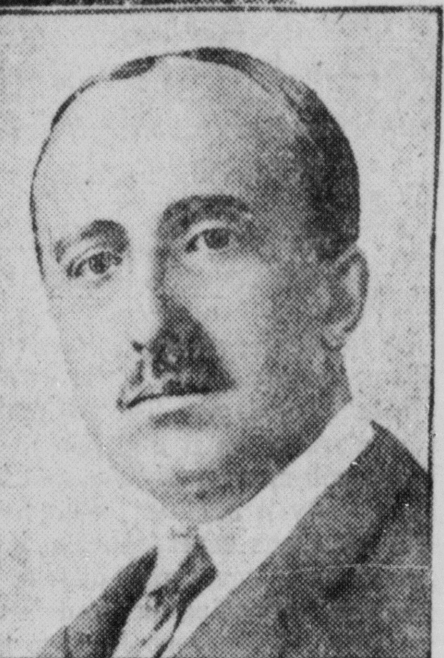

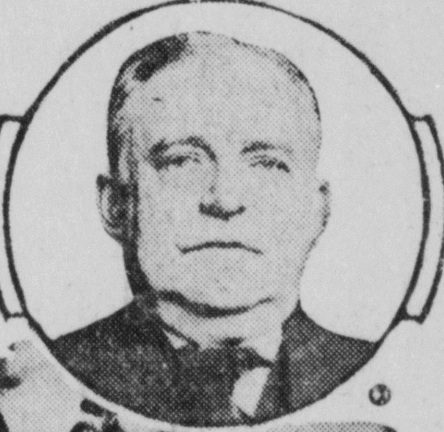

Dreadnoughts of Small Size.

In these days of 32,000-ton Dreadnoughts it is interesting to note how much can be done on a limited displacement, as shown in the case of the three small ships of this type which are being built for Spain, says the Scientific American. Though these vessels are of but 14,700 tons displacement, which is less than that of the Connecticut, they will mount eight twelve-inch 50 caliber guns of the most powerful type and twenty four-inch guns and will carry an eight inch belt, tapering to four inches at the ends, and they will have eight inches and ten inches of armor on the turrets and barbettes. With 1,900 tons of coal they will have a radius of 5,000 miles at 10 knots.

Suits Filed For
$10,500,000 Won
In Wheat Pit

ONE of the most remarkable attempts to stop speculation was launched recently by the Chicago Anti-gambling league in a suit for $6,000,000 against James A. Patten, so called wheat king, who retired from business a short time ago. This was followed by preparations to sue J. Ogden Armour, head of the packing firm, and it is said the Chicago board of trade itself will become a defendant party to the litigation.

Dr. Paul Burmaster, president of the Anti-gambling league, declares the purpose of the litigation is purely philanthropic. Patten was sued for $6,000,000 because it is believed he has won $2,000,000 in the last two years through his wheat operations, and an Illinois statute permits the bringing of suit by an outside party for three times the amount of the gambling losses, one-half the amount recovered to go to the state. Dr. Burmaster intends devoting the league's share of the spoil to a campaign fund for pushing a national war on speculation.

If Dr. Burmaster's evidence is correct it serves to emphasize the discrepancy between public belief in reported winnings in big cereal corners and stock exchange manipulations and the actual profits involved. Patten was credited with cornering more than $10,000,000 by his corner in May wheat last year, yet the anti-gambling crusader puts him down as getting but one-fifth of that sum.

It is asserted by the militant doctor that he has obtained sufficient evidence to convict Patten from a former grain operator who, having cleared a fortune and retired, has become penitent. And if this was not enough it is said that many board of trade operators are also members of the Anti-gambling league and are furnishing evidence to stop the trading in grain futures.

Further reports have it that several active traders in the wheat pit who have been victims of some of the big corners of recent years will add important testimony if the first case results in a victory for the Burmaster league.

Following the league's assumption that speculating is gambling, the plans are laid to assail the board of trade for the $10,500,000 in case judgments are entered against Armour and Patten and collections are evaded. The board will be asked to make good any possible deficits under another portion of the gambling statute, which makes persons who shall rent or lease buildings as gambling places liable for recoveries under the general act.

In case the league makes good its efforts and recovers a $5,250,000 campaign fund attention will be turned to the stock exchanges of New York and other cities to see if statutes similar to those of Illinois cannot be made to apply.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—MRS. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

PLAN PROPOSED.

For Legislative Apportionment.—
Jackson County's Prospects.

A legislative reapportionment bill will be introduced in the lower house within a few days. The committee is now working on it and has a plan which will mean many changes in the state. By it Jackson county would still have one representative and be placed in a senatorial district with Jackson, Washington and Orange counties. At present Jackson is associated with Brown and Washington. The new plan would throw Brown with Morgan and Bartholomew, hitch up Monroe with Lawrence and tie Scott, Jennings, Ripley and Jefferson together. For representative Brown and Morgan would be joined, Lawrence and Bartholomew would each have one, while Jennings and Scott would remain partners and have another chance to return representative Wells if they still had the inclination.

THEATER CLOSED.

Receiver Closing Up Affairs For Benton Company at Indianapolis.

Phillip E. Brown, who was appointed receiver for the George R. Benton Company who had a lease on the Majestic Theater at Indianapolis has closed up the house. The principal owner of the company was George R. Benton, formerly of this county. The receiver had intended to operate the house for several days, but the receipts were not sufficient to pay the expenses of the light and heat and the theater was ordered closed.

The tangible assets of the Benton company consist of the stage furniture and scenery. An inventory of this property will be taken at once and will probably be sold at public sale.

Central Christian Church.

Bible School, 9:30 a. m. Preaching 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by Elder George Roder of Martinsville. Every one cordially invited to attend.

It is hardly necessary to say that the legislative apportionment bill which the house committee is drafting, will make every district possible Democratic.

Clyde Benton, of Brownstown, was in Seymour a short time Thursday evening.

TIME EXPIRED TODAY

None of Bruce Street Property Owners took Advantage of Barrett law.

The time in which the property owners on Bruce street who were assessed for the sewer which was recently constructed could take advantage of the Barrett Law expired today. None of the property owners filed petitions to pay for the improvement under the provision of that law.

There was some question, however, whether they could take advantage of the law as the sewer was constructed upon a petition of the property owners. The Barrett law was enacted to protect persons who were compelled to make the improvement after the city had decided to have the work done. If some of those who were assessed had asked for the privilege of paying their share under the Barrett law, the city attorney would have had a nice question to decide.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

PROHIBITS INTOXICANTS

To Be Used on Interurbans and Steam Trains in Indiana.

No more liquor will be served on passenger and dining cars in Indiana if a bill introduced by Senator Stotsenburg yesterday becomes a law. The measure was introduced by request and fixes a penalty for any one who drinks intoxicating liquor on any passenger or dining car or on the platform of any such car while it is being used for the transportation of passengers.

If this bill is passed and the officers would then see that it is enforced the "suit case brigades" would receive a sad blow. At the present time many travelers carry their bottles of liquor with them and partake freely while enroute to their destinations.

Birthday Anniversary.

Surrounded by her family and immediate friends, Mrs. C. J. Remy celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday anniversary today at her home on Fifth street. An elaborate turkey dinner was served at twelve o'clock, the table being beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations. Remy, of Seymour; Mrs. B. Fitzpatrick of here; Mrs. J. P. Schaub and Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilliland of Hope. All of Mrs. Remy's children were present today except her son, Sherman J. Remy of Fort Wayne.—Columbus Republican.

Reciprocity Day.

The members of the Tuesday Club are making arrangements for Reciprocity Day next Tuesday. Invitations have been issued to the members of various other clubs in the city to attend the meeting. 3 YEARS OF SUCCESS

The Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co. Offer a Remedy for Catarrh.—The Medicine Costs Nothing if it Fails.

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucro-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Mucro-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucro-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucro-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membrane tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membrane tissues to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucous cells, aiding digestion, and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Mucro-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucro-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Seymour only at our store.—The Rexall Store. The Andrews Schwenk Drug Co.
